

Boost for injured Sam

TIGERS' rugby league legend Wayne Pearce visited Royal Rehab Brain Injury Unit recently to extend his best wishes to young Sam Carson, the son of former Wallabies half back Peter Carson.

Sam, who had a traumatic brain injury as the result of a fall late last year, is best mates with Pearce's eldest daughter Tatum and her close circle of friends.

Wayne encouraged Sam to work hard at the rehabilitation program that the Rehab physios have arranged for him.

During Wayne's visit he also caught up with Geoff Prenter and congratulated him on the 40 years anniversary since the launch of the Rugby League Week magazine.

Geoff is the Fundraising Manager at Royal Rehab, but as an accomplished journalist and sports commentator, he was the first editor of Rugby League Week back in 1970.

'Junior' Pearce is pictured with Geoff Prenter and Royal Rehab CEO Stephen Lowndes. TWT on-the-spot PHOTO by Jim Towers.