

Unexpected surprise for a dedicated co-ordinator

RYDE

NOUR AZHAR

COLLABORATIVE living co-ordinator Natalie Ryan was awarded Ryde Rotary's Pride of Workmanship Award in recognition of her work with the Royal Rehabilitation Centre in Ryde.

Ms Ryan, who co-ordinates and organises the transition of clients with a significant and long term disability to home or supported accommodation, said the award came as a surprise and would encourage her to continue doing what she loved.

"It was a very lovely surprise and very unexpected, but it wasn't just for myself. It was a recognition of the great work the dedicated team that I work with has been doing," Ms Ryan said.

Royal Rehab chief executive Stephen Lowndes said Ms Ryan was "a critical lynch pin and consummate professional in co-ordinating and case managing the complex network of community support services".

Ms Ryan has been working with the Royal Rehab for two years.
